As it looks like this matter may be at an end it was decided to remove it from the agenda and if it was to be discussed this could be done in village matters.

A discussion took place about the contents of newsletters put out by villagers which may be libellous and if so should we seek legal advice. This matter to be brought up at the next meeting.

As Dr. Rajan Bhojwani as shown an interest on joining the council it was agreed that we should approach him regarding this matter.

The Chairman informed the meeting that he had contacted Paul Clayton who is the legal expert for the Clerk's and Council Direct magazine which the council receives. This was regarding the legal position with the council and the squatters at Tinkers Lane. This was in fact printed in the January issue of the magazine. Mr. Clayton replied under the heading (Duty to keep trespassers safe) that if the council is aware of any danger to people using the land it must take steps to avert that danger. In his opinion in this case the council has no liability should a trespasser suffer injury.
